- 1. The Madjari power station at Skoplje was sabotaged three times between 17 August and 24 September 1949: On 17 August one of the two 5,800 Kw generating sets was damaged; on 19 August the coal conveyor was put out of action; and on 24 September a further act of sabotage brought the plant to an almost complete standstill.
- 2. The commission sent to Madjari by the Minister of Power Supply found the charges of sabotage proved in all three cases, and on 28 September a detachment of National Militia was installed at the power station to keep the employees under observation.
- 3. Sabotage was also reported to the UDB by the management of Elektroporcelan at Novi Sad, the largest factory of its kind in Yugoslavia.

  It has 1,200 employees including 200 laboratory workers. It will take at least three weeks to repair several of the damaged machines. The UDB arrested several workers, five of whom were placed in jail including a foreman, Petar Obradovic.
